The committee will be headed by a former Delhi High Court judge, Justice Kailash Ghambir. Setting up the committee, a bench of Chief Justice T.S. Thakur and Justice L. Nageswara Rao said that in spite of continuous monitoring by the top court, the situation on the ground was bad. The court said that Justice Ghambir would be assisted by an officer from the Urban Development Ministry, who would be of the rank of Joint Secretary. The court also asked the Chief Justice of Delhi High Court to nominate a judicial officer from subordinate judiciary to be a part of the committee.

Long queues outside banks, ATMs in Uttarakhand

Dehradun,

Hundreds and thousands of persons queued up outside banks and ATM's in Uttarakhand on Friday as banks opened for the second day after currency notes of Rs 500 and Rs 1,000 were demonetised.

While serpentine queues seen at many banks in the state capital were by and large disciplined, reports of scuffle between people and security guards at some bank branches on smaller towns have been reported.

People were waiting for their turn to get the new currency notes and also deposit their old money.

The banks opened at 9 a.m. while the ATM's in some places would open at 12 noon, an official told IANS. Security around banks and ATM's has been beefed up following fears that people might get unruly once the new cash currency arrives.

In the last 24-hours, more than Rs 250 crore was deposited in 168 bank branches in the state capital alone, an official said while informing that more money inflow is likely to come in on Friday.

Indonesia's Bintan Island is scheduled to host the 2016 Spartan Race competition on November 19-20 with more than 4,000 participants from various nations and regions already registered to take part in the event. "We are proud that the organizer would conduct the hardest level of Spartan Race in the upcoming event. Participants have to run 20.8 kilometers through 37 kinds of hurdles," Bintan Tourism Office chief Luki Zaiman Prawira said in a statement on Wednesday. Xinhua news agency reported Luki said it would be the first time for Indonesia to host the tour-ism sport event that highlights physical endurance and adventure, divided into three toughness levels of sprint, super and beast.
